

The Intelligencer.

Office No. 25 and 27 Fourteenth Street.
 Three hundred immigrants arrived at Philadelphia yesterday, and Philadelphia is much of a place for immigrants.

To those of Representatives yesterday appeared an order $100,000 for the relief of the overland people along the Mississippi.

There is an immense flow of gas at the well near West Middletown, on the Morgan farm. The flame can be seen for twenty miles and is seventy feet deep. The well is over 2,300 feet deep. Oil is expected soon.

The second month of spring is here, and the genial weather we have had during the first month, may reasonably expect not only a continuance of it, but even something still milder and more genial. Indeed all signs point to unusual plenty and favorable weather this season. All signs save those of Vennor, and his crops, are to be interpreted by the weather. The outlook is altogether cheering for crops, for fruit, good roads, health and prosperity.

We are indebted to the editor of the Wheeling Herald for a copy of a little work of 20 pages just issued from his office, entitled, "A Record of the prominent events occurring in Brooke County from the settlement of the country up to January, 1882." While this work is, as it purports, largely local in its character, yet there is much in it to interest the general public. It opens with a historical review of the circumstances attending the early settlement of this region, and then gradually descends into the minutiae of a more circumscribed area, taking in this area the Potomac valley and more or less of the adjacent country. It treats of persons and events, of industries, customs, habits and characteristics, and shows the gradual rise and progress of the country in the matter of wealth, education and general development. The price of the book is one dollar, and it is to be had on application to J. G. Jacob, Wheeling.

We published yesterday from a Waynesburg, Pa., paper an announcement of the arrival of that place of a corps of civil engineers who are locating the line projected between Harrisburg in that State and the Ohio river at this point. Right on the heels of this announcement we had a visit yesterday from Mr. Pettit, of New York, attorney for the company who are building this road, and who is here to take out a local incorporation in this State. He will take out articles to-day, and immediately a corps of engineers will arrive here and assume charge of the work at this end of the line. Additional corps also will be put on the line between here and Waynesburg, and as far as possible the route will be surveyed—perhaps two different routes. The company are pushing matters with great vigor, being backed by a wealthy syndicate in New York who propose to put the line under contract as fast as possible. They expect to have the work under way between here and the coke fields this summer, and at the earliest possible day to complete it through to Harrisburg. They do not reveal their intentions beyond Harrisburg eastward, nor west of the Ohio river beyond this point. All they claim is that they are building a first class line between Harrisburg and Wheeling. Whether this is to be part of the Wheeling & Lake Erie route to the west, and whether they propose to build the old Atlatown route, or a production on the last day of the public to judge. On these points they have no disclosures to make at present. They evidently have a plan of their own which they are executing with unusual energy, and inasmuch as they are not asking the public for any subscriptions they do not feel called on to explain their strange objects. The road is to be a straight line from Harrisburg and no zig-zag affair. It is not surveyed with reference to saving expense so much as to save distance and grades. They claim to be building an expensive line in order to accomplish these desirable ends. They expect to enter the city by the Boggs Run route, and will ask for such rights of way into the city as will enable them to deliver coke to the furnaces and give them easy access to the mills. This is all that they expect to ask of the city, and in return they propose to deliver cheaper coke than we have been getting. We do not understand them as expecting exorbitant or exclusive privileges, but simply as desiring to be placed on an equality with the heavy fellowship of the people of this city.

Glover, of Akron; Recording Secretary, J. A. Krain, of Mansfield; Corresponding Secretary, W. H. Pontius, of Mansfield. The object was to form an organization for the elevation and purification of the profession.

Oil Operations.
 BRADFORD, Pa., March 31.—The report of the oil operations for the month of March was published by the Era to-morrow, says that 383 wells were completed, having a production on the last day of the month of 5,641 barrels. Eight wells were finished in February and 2,150 barrels in production. There are 437 rigs building and 425 wells drilling. This is an increase of thirty-six rigs and a decrease of five wells.

Chinese Merchant's Exchange.
 SAN FRANCISCO, March 31.—The Chinese merchants of this city have this morning opened a merchant's exchange, which they have been secretly organizing for some time, and elected officers. The object is mutual benefit and protection.

Arrival of Immigrants.
 PHILADELPHIA, March 31.—Twelve hundred immigrants arrived to-day and started to-night. They are mostly Germans.

WASHINGTON NEWS.

NEW BENT FOR FOLGER'S AMBITION

To Be Run for Governor of New York—Hunt's Bold as the Navy—Vote of the House Bill to Be Decided—Star Route Cases—Congressional Affairs—Capital Notes.

Special Dispatch to the Intelligencer.
 WASHINGTON, March 31.—It is stated to-day, on what is considered reliable authority, that Secretary Folger is to be the compromise candidate for Governor of the two factions of the Republican party in New York. It is asserted that President Arthur has signified his desire that this be done, and that the Secretary of the Treasury would accept the nomination were it tendered him.

Albert Daggett, Chairman of the New York Republican Executive Committee, who has been spending some time in this city, asserts that the nomination would be very satisfactory all around, and further states that the arrangement has been consummated.

The movement, of course, is one hostile to Cornell. The theory of those who are endeavoring to bring this about is this, viz., that the nomination would be very satisfactory all around, and further states that the arrangement has been consummated.

The House passed a resolution giving the Ladies' Aid Society of the Garfield Memorial Hospital Association the use of the rotunda of the Capitol for a fair to be held in aid of the hospital project, the first Saturday in May.

A resolution appropriating another hundred thousand dollars in aid of the sufferers by the Mississippi flood was also adopted.

The Chinese Bill.
 WASHINGTON, March 31.—The President announced at the close of the cabinet session a special session to be held Monday, when the Chinese bill will be disposed of.

Wednesday is the last day the President can hold the bill. Senators Miller, of California, and Jones, of Nevada, called on the President after the cabinet meeting and both are sure there will be no veto. Others who visited the President think the bill will be returned to Congress with the request that the twenty year clause be reduced to ten years.

Hunt's Hold on the Navy.
 Special Dispatch to the Intelligencer.
 WASHINGTON, March 31.—An interview with Secretary Hunt has been traveling round town to-day, with some show of reliability, in which the Secretary is represented as saying that he has President Arthur's partial assistance that he will not be removed; that if he is removed his successor will be General Beale, of this city, and not Mr. Chandler, as has been asserted. Mr. Hunt will be well provided for if dropped from the Navy.

West Virginia Postmasters.
 Special Dispatch to the Intelligencer.
 WASHINGTON, March 31.—The following postmasters in West Virginia have been appointed: Samuel H. Ewing, at Viola; F. H. Burr, at Noming Grove, and Wm. H. Brown, at Brady's Station.

CAPITAL CULINARS.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—The Senate Committee on Education and Labor this morning heard arguments by Powell, Secretary of the National Temperance Society, and Mrs. Foster against Logan's bill to prohibit the sale of the whiskey tax to public school purposes.

It is expected that the public debt statement to-morrow will show a reduction for March of $16,000,000.

The Senate Committee on Territories, by a party vote of four Republicans against three Democrats, decided to report back the bill for the admission of Dakota, with the renewed recommendation for its passage.

Secretary Kirkwood has informed the Commissioner General of the Land Office in reference to the Toledo swamp land case, that the Department will recognize any of the homestead entries made subsequent to the advertisement and sale. This decision practically nullifies the sales of these lands made a few weeks ago.

Commissioner Price is quoted as saying: "I think this is the last Indian pony-wow we shall have here while I am Commissioner. It is perfect nonsense their coming here. They do not know what they want when they start, and the longer they stay here the less they know, and it is only a waste of time and money."

In the Senate to-day, at the request of Senator Logan, whose condition shows marked improvement over last night, intends to visit Hot Springs next week if the present degree of improvement continues.

CROP STATISTICS.

The Production of Corn and Wheat for the Year 1880-1881.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—The following statement relative to the corn and wheat crop of 1880 and 1881 is furnished by the Department of Agriculture: There were seven States that produced a surplus of corn. These States together yielded ten hundred and forty-six million bushels in 1880 and seven hundred and thirty-seven million bushels in 1881. On the 20th of March of the last crop the proportion of corn was made from over 400 counties of those States to the Department. They represented more than two-thirds of the entire area. The percentage of the product of each State, all on hand, is reported as follows: Ohio 34, Indiana 27, Illinois 26, Iowa 26, Missouri 15, Kansas 10, Nebraska 28.

The average is nearly 24 per cent, and amounts to 175,000,000 bushels. It is estimated that the proportion on hand March 20, 1881, of the larger crop of 1880 was: In Ohio, 33 per cent; Indiana, 33; Illinois, 28; Iowa, 46; Missouri, 30; Kansas, 30; Nebraska, 38; average 37 per cent, or 388,000,000 bushels. The same States produced 254,000,000 bushels of wheat in 1880, and 160,000,000 bushels in 1881. The proportion on hand, as estimated, was: Ohio, 25 per cent; Indiana, 18; Illinois, 19; Iowa, 28; Missouri, 17; Kansas, 15; Nebraska, 21; average 21 per cent, or nearly 36,000,000 bushels. One year ago the proportion of the remaining crop of 1880 was: Ohio, 30 per cent, Indiana, 28; Illinois, 24; Iowa, 25; Missouri, 28; Kansas, 26; Nebraska, 23; average 25 per cent, or 64,000,000 bushels.

The results of this investigation indicate a comparative shortage of 213,000,000 bushels, or 55 per cent less than the corn on hand on March 20, '81, and also a decrease of 28,000,000 bushels of wheat, or 44 per cent less than on March 20, '81. In these seven States, in addition to the shortage of the three other surplus wheat States, Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota, which are credited with 75,000,000 bushels as the crop of '81.

STAR ROUTE FRAUDS.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—Colonel Ingersoll this morning began his argument for the defendants in the Star Route cases on the motion to quash the indictment. The motion, he said, was for the reason that the indictment was not found in accordance with the law, and holding that the statute of Maryland of 1772, is still in force in District of Columbia. Under this statute, Colonel Ingersoll held that the grand jury must find an indictment of their own knowledge, or after the presentment, by order of the Court. In this case he claimed the grand jury had no jurisdiction. Judge Wylie said the whole thing hinges on the question as to whether the law of 1772 is still in force in the District of Columbia, and if it is, then the motion to quash must be sustained. Colonel Ingersoll then continued his argument to show that the law spoken of is still in force.

Col. Ingersoll concluded his argument after speaking an hour and three-quarters. He was followed by Mr. Chandler, who began by assuming that the Government attempted to frame their indictments so as to set forth the crime either under common law or under statute law.

Col. Bliss (interrupting)—Will you inform us for whom you appear, and to what motion you are speaking?

Col. Ingersoll—Hear him and then credit to whichever you please. [Laughter.]

With a quick response Chandler said—"He spoke to Brady's motion."

Chandler resumed his argument and insisted that the crime or offense had been set up under the common law and that the common law had not taken cognizance of the postal service, or in any way defined the crime set up, and denied the right of the prosecution to ask the court sitting with common law jurisdiction to pass upon a crime or offense which had never been defined at common law discussion.

The indictment, Chandler said, was for supposed injury to the United States, raised in the fact that this alleged expedition route was annexed, and the prosecution cannot establish fraud in the expedition unless it can be predicated upon the showing that it was not needed for the public good, and the defense insists that it does not lie in this court to determine or pass upon that question, but by the law the discretion was placed with the Postmaster General, and when he had decided that the expedition was necessary this court could not go behind that decision.

Gen. Brady's acts were those of an executive functionary. Congress had an exclusive right to legislate touching the postal laws, and if Congress should decide upon a certain post route, which right any court to pronounce upon that act and declare the route unnecessary.

Mr. Chandler urged the vituperation and multiplication of words were not sufficient to constitute an offense which is not defined by law, and claimed that the indictment was one solely of adjectives. It seemed absurd that the Court could hold, or the jury influenced into believing that an offense had been committed when the highest judicial body in the country—the Congress—had passed upon the matter and every one of these contracts, and had appropriated money to pay them.

At the conclusion of Mr. Chandler's argument the Court adjourned until to-morrow.

OUT IN A BARBER SHOP.

THE SHERMAN-HAMPTON AFFAIR.

Sherman Denies Any Connection With Treasury Clerk Kirk, and Says He is Ready to Show Up at Any Time—Senator Hampton is Not Disposed to Say Anything About It.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 31.—Some stir has been created, especially in Senatorial circles, by the publication in the Post of to-day of articles in relation to the differences between Senators Sherman and Hampton. The Post articles allege that an employee of the Treasury named Kirk was the author of the letter published in a Charleston paper over a year ago, making grave accusations against the character of Senator Hampton; that when Hampton came here at the meeting of Congress he began an investigation of this publication and upon finding that Kirk had written the letter had him arraigned before Secretary Folger, but that Kirk declared that he had written the letter by direction of Secretary Sherman, and said he had a letter from Sherman virtually directing him to make the attack on Hampton.

A Western Associated Press reporter this afternoon asked Senator Sherman if he had anything to say about this matter. He replied that he had. That he could only express the contempt he felt for it. He said he did not believe that Senator Hampton was responsible for the publication in the Post of the letter, but he had himself in a very ridiculous attitude. The Post article said that Mr. Kirk had refused to give a copy of the letter he claimed to have from Sherman. Senator Sherman said this morning that he had nothing to say about it, but that he had written the letter by direction of Secretary Sherman, and said he had a letter from Sherman virtually directing him to make the attack on Hampton.

The following incident, which is alleged to have provoked the above rumors, appeared in the Washington Post of the 31st inst. Senator Wade Hampton, of South Carolina, cut Senator John Sherman off in the barber shop of the Senate the other day. The Ohio Senator was notified in this way that the South Carolina Senator did not regard him as a fit acquaintance for a gentleman.
